- 2) As an alternative, students can opt for an evaluation of the “reddito familiare equivalente” (equivalent family income), to be determined according to the source and amount of the student’s conventional family income, of its amount and of the pertinent assets/financial situation. Contributions/fees, in this case, will vary according to the income bracket. Students who wish to opt for this procedure for the assessment of their student contribution fee must submit, from August 1 to October 20, 2018 or together with their first-enrolment forms or with the late renewal of their enrolment, all documents, issued by competent authorities for the territory in which the income was produced or where the assets are owned, certifying the economic and financial conditions. Said certification must be translated in Italian and legalized by the Italian consular/diplomatic authorities competent for the pertinent territory, or legalized in accordance with the international agreements/regulations on the matter; in those countries where it is particularly difficult to obtain an authorized certification by the local Italian embassy, such documentation is issued by the competent diplomatic/consular representations in Italy and legalized by the pertinent territorial prefecture.

More specifically, the official certification (legally valid in Italy) for the A.Y. 2018/2019 must be submitted. Said certification must certify the following:

- a) Total income earned abroad in the year 2017 by all family members;

- b) The composition of the family unit on the application date;
- c) The total area, in square meters, of the residential buildings owned abroad by all members of the household;
- d) Total amount of the “patrimonio mobiliare” (movable/financial assets) owned by members of the family unit on December 31, 2017.
